Some of the party leaders seem to be getting in a frame of mind to remove Mrs. Clem Shaver as Chairman of the Democratic National

Some folks can certainly work up lot of wonder as to who will be the next Democratic candidate, in view of the fact that it doesn't make MEN OF COMMISSION a bit of difference.

It is easy enough to understan why a dozen persons should hav offered in good faith to die in place of Ruth and Judd-it takes more nerve to commit suicide than the average boob can readily command, and a shot of free electricity is cheaper than a dose of cyanide.

Incidentally, Ruth and Judd aren't dead yet and may be good for the front page from now on-New York judge grants the corset man's woman a stay, in order that she may testify about that life insurance she had written for Mr. Snyder. Some women are so thoughtful of their husbands!

This leaves the sashweight man, as he goes to the chair alone, to reflect that if he had given a little more thought to the protection of his family his lawyer might have thought up a good excuse, too.

If we were Judd's lawyer we'd something about the oil business and have him subpensed by the Senate committee.

The police again prevent our promising young jewelry bandit from nmitting suicide in his cell, but does this come, under the head of economy?

The Senate's tariff debate goes into extra innings.

Twenty-seven policemen, promoted at the instance of former Commissione Frederick A. Fenning, and on recom mendation of Maj. Edwin B. ### FLORIDA BLOCKADE BEGUN BY 20 CRAFT

Coast Guard Ships Move to Sea Stations to Combat Smuggling.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 11 (A.P.) A Government blockade of the Florida east coast against rum running and other smuggling activities became effective tonight with the movement of more than a score of Coast Guard craft to their stations at sea. Three hundred miles of coast line from Daytona Beach to points south of Miami, was the patrol ground for the 'wasps" of the subchasen type, mounting 3-inch guns down to 1-pounders, in what has been heralded as a sustained drive to plug the liquor leaks and wipe out smugglers' operations from outlying islands and keys. Forming a part of the greatest con-centration of Coast Guard craft ever in Florida waters, the vessels sailed under secret orders after a "council of war" among the officers at Coast Guard base No. 6 here, which ended in the an nouncement by Commander Beckwith Jordan, commandant, that the blockade of contraband effectually is halted.

The action of the court came at the conclusion of the day's session devoted to hearing of the charge that Edward J. Kidweli, jr., juror in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial and witness in the contempt case against Sinclair and five others, had been intimidated by James J. O'Leary, assistant United States district actions.

O'Leary was still on the stand under cross-examination at the time of adjournment. In his own testimony there had not been any considerable variance between the testimony of other witnesses, except as to the two affidavits which Kidwell signed and swore to, but testified he did not concur in. O'Leary testified on both direct and cross-examination that Kidwell had subscribed to the contents of the affidavits including tents of the affidavits, including identification, to the best of his recol-lection, of O'Rellly and Stewart, two Burns operatives, assigned at different times to shadow the juror.

Kidwell Flopped, He Says.

HEARINGS ORDERED ON FARM MARKET BY SUBCOMMITTEE

Temporary Building, Gibson Says of City's Plan.

FACTS, NOT ORATORY, WANTED FROM CITIZENS

Proceedings Will Be Begun Tonight in Representatives' Office Building.

The battle over a permanent location for the farmers' produce market, which nust move to make way for the new Internal Revenue Building, will be fought all over again, beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

At that time a District subcommittee headed by Representative Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, will begin a series of hearings on the market question in the House Office Building. They will be held in the large caucus room or in the office of the House District committee.

Advocates of all the sites proposed—Southwest, Eckington (Northeast), Midcity and others—will be heard by the subcommittee, which then will make a choice and report to the full House District committee. The Southwest site or the Midcity site will be taken up tonight.

The decision to hold hearings on the question of a permanent location for the market was reached yesterday at a meeting of the full District committee, after Representative Gibson and others had voiced strong opposition to placing the market on a temporary site behind the present Center Market until the commission merchants have decided where they will go. This procedure was suggested by the District Commissioners.

Commissioners.

Representative Gibson and Representative William C. Hammer, of North Carolina, declared that if the market were temporarily located on the fringe of the Mall, as suggested by the Commissioners, it would take years to move it.

"There is nothing so permanent as a temporary building," said Gibson. Bills Before Committee.

Mats stated that the Wall Creek sands under the reserve were estimated to contain 50,000,000 barrels of oil, but that 84 wells have been sunk into the Naval Reserve to these sands without yielding a barrel of oil from the Wall Creek formation.

Mr. Watts and Commander H. A. Stuart, of the United States Navy, were the receivers of the Teapot reserve during the litigation over the lease on the property which was obtained by Sinclair's company from Albert B. Fall while he was Socretary of the Interior.

Mr. Watts represented the Sinclair interests in the receivership and Commander Stuart the Navy Department.

Man Twice Sought Death, Police Assert

Frederick Cecil Lewis, 36 years old, made two attempts to take his life yesterday, according to police. About 5 o'clock in the afternoon they say, he went to Garfield Hospital and told physicians he had slashed a wrist with a safety razor blade, but regretted his act. The wound was dressed and he was taken to a cell in the Eighth Precinct station, where he was charged with intoxication.

In the cell, it was reported, he tore his shirt and tried to hang himself with it. Detectives Dennis J. Cullinane, who heard a noise in the cell, frustrated the second attempt.

Approval of the administration's

"We have not such a fleet at the present time," was one of the conclusions of the Navy general board placed before the House naval committee by

The Secretary Wilbur.

The Secretary, in testimony, stressed a personal belief that "America needs a first-class Navy." and declared he felt that if the program were carried out the "danger of war, and therefore of the destruction of our overseas commerce will be greatly minimized if not entirely met."

Similar Testimony by Hughes. Admiral Charles F. Wilbur explained that the program.

Mr. Wilbur said that the proposed construction was not based upon the 5-5-3 ratio but will be "well within that ratio as to Great Britain and slightly above the 5-3 ratio with Japan unless she increases her program."

"for the reason that Great Britain has that number of tons or because to do so would bring us up to a parity with Great Britain nor do we ask you to construct a certain amount of tonnage in order that we may be on the 5-3 ratio with Japan."

The Secretary emphasized a need for additional cruisers to protect trade routes, declaring that these ships were necessary irrespective of the strength of other navies.

Mr. Wilbur said that the Navy general board felt that any delay in building up the fieet "to its standard requirements deprives the country of an adequate defense," and that prompt action in adopting the program "would avoid excessive peak loads in future financial demands."

Miguel Avila, American-born son of a Mexican father and Italian mother, was put under suspicion of complicity in the manufacture of the papers by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, as he asked time for the committee to seek the authors of the document.

The commission, the report said, that while the larger companies undoubtedly have the power to crush them by price competition, this power had not been used in recent years.

Senator Norris wanted to know if the committee had any suspicion about the papers or if some action could not be taken against some of the witnesses who appeared before it for perjury. Senator Reed replied that he "frankly suspected Avila" and said he thought John Page. MINORITY REPORT IS MADE

(Associated Press.)

Declaring that the United States must modernize its merchant marine or get off the seas, representatives of private shipping interests, after a long conference with the Shipping Board, yesterday indorsed the "general principles and policies embodied in the Wood bill and the Copeland bill" and recommended that they be enacted into law.

The Wood bill provides for liberal mail contracts and the lending of money for ship construction to private shipping concerns at a low rate of interest, provided the ships built meet the requirements of the naval reserve. The Copeland bill is similar.

The resolution was drawn by a committee appointed by the conference Tuesday after an all-day discussion failed to bring agreement among the different factions represented.

Three members of the committee submitted a minority report asking that the Wood and Copeland bills be consolidated with the Jones bill, which prosolidated with the Jones bill, which pro-Coolidge, and that will be the pay off." "Well, they better name Smith.

submitted a minority report asking that the Wood and Copeland bills be consolidated with the Jones bill, which provides for Government ownership and operation of a merchane marine. The conference voted overwhelmingly for the majority report.

Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's Union, informed the conference that on behalf of the seamen he was voting against both reports.

The conference expressed the beliet that the "Shipping Board, in face of serious obstacles, has done its best to carry out the merchant marine act of 1920. But we further believe that a crisis has been reached and that the future of the American merchant marine depends upon prompt constructive action by Congress."

BORAH FIGHTS TAX GUT:

Also, in Speech in Senate, Wants Funds Used to Retire Public Debt.

SMOOT IS FOR REDUCTION

(Associated Press.) The use of Federal funds for debt retirement and internal improvements EVENING was advocated in the Senate yesterday by Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, for Women proposing a complete elimination for this session of the proposed tax Formerly $35.00 to $133.50

The demand for no tax reduction at this time followed a forecast by Chairman Smoot, of the Senate finance comman Smoot, of the Senate finance committee, that the $290,000,000 reduction bill passed by the House would be sidetracked until after March 15 when first tax returns of 1928 are due. But Senator Smoot gave the promise of the administration that there "most surely" would be a tax cut put through at this session and Senator Walsh (Demograt), Massachusetts, gave notice that the country wanted taxes reduced immediately as, he said, has been promised by the administration.

The declaration of Mr. Borah, who is one of a number of Republican independents in the Senate, apparently assured the Republicans of a majority in their move to force postponement. Senator Smoot has not even called the finance committee together and he has said the House alten property bill will be taken up ahead of taxes when the committee does meet.

THE SHIPPING SITUATION.

The American shipping situation is analyzed in a statement issued by representatives of steamship and trade associations after a conference with officials of the United States Shipping Board. The statement emphasizes the fact that foreign vessels are now largely "motor ships," having much greater speed than the old-type vessels built by the United States during the war. The United States is trying to hold the seas with old and slow ships, operated by the Government in an expensive manner. Private operators will not buy the obsolete ves-

The object sought by all is the creation and maintenance of an adequate merchant marine, privately owned and operated, handling the greater part of the Nation's overseas commerce and prepared to act as an auxiliary of the Navy. It is now evident that this object can not be attained by operating the present ships, even if some of them can be reconditioned. New and faster ships, better adapted to modern requirements, must be provided, whether they are to be operated by the Government or by private enterprise.

If a plan can be evolved whereby the Government could be reimbursed for money advanced to private shipowners there would be no necessity for further Government operation, and the present drain on the Treasury would be relieved.

Such a plan is embodied in the Wood bill, now pending in the House of Representatives. Senator Copeland has also introduced a bill designed to aid American shipping by liberalizing mail contracts. The conference of shipping representatives approves these bills and urges Congress to make them the basis of legislation that will revive the merchant marine.

Only a small portion of American overseas commerce is carried in American vessels. The ocean freight bill of the United States exceeds $700,000,000 a year. Foreigners furnish faster service, and business goes where it is best served. Consequently the United States has no merchant marine capable of serving as an auxiliary of the Navy in case of war. Unless this situation is remedied, another great war will compel the United States to spend another $3,000,000,000 or so for emergency ships, with the probability that many American lives would be needlessly sacrificed before the ships could be ready for duty.

If Americans are to go out in competition on the high seas they must be aided by the Government. It is idle to expect private capital to take over the present unsatisfactory and slow ships. The Government must bring new vessels into existence, either at the expense of the Treasury or by aiding private capital to meet foreign competitors on a fair fighting basis. At present foreigners are borrowing American money and making it back again by furnishing ocean freights to Americans at high rates. All sorts of discriminations are practiced against American shipping.

The greatest weakness of the national defense is the present merchant marine. It is the weak link that breaks the chain of national security. The Nation will not be capable of defending its commerce until it has suitable merchant ships and a stronger fleet. The national defense feature of this problem commands the attention of Congress at this session.

DRUG REGULATION.

The government of Denmark proposes to protect the subjects of the Danish King against the greed of druggists who are dissatisfied with a reasonable profit on their potions, but insist on taking "all the traffic will bear." In Denmark drug stores are really establishments for the sale of medicines, and as such are trade in medicines and medical preparations. what, and the manager was inspired to intro-

Now this old statute is being construed as also giving the authority to regulate prices, which under the latest ukase must not in any event exceed 80 per cent above the cost. This applies alike to domestic and imported prepara

Under this ruling of the Danish authorities it will not be permissible to fill a prescription calling for "sodium chloride, 8 drchms.; aqua distil., 4 ounces," and soak the poor patient 50 cents for a gill of water containing a few grains of common salt, which has happened in Washington.

Any attempt to extend paternalism to the control of prices for a bottle of pain-killer in this country would be likely to start a political upheaval. But, after all, it does seem that the action of the Danish government in limiting profits to 80 per cent can scarcely be regarded as confiscatory.

ARMY-NAVY FOOTBALL.

The West Point-Annapolis football contro versy over eligibility rules which led to the abandonment of the annual Army-Navy gridiron battle finally has reached the floors of Representative Linthicum introduced a day or so ago a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of five members of the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker, to join with the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of War in an effort to compromise the differences and bring about a resumption of football relations.

The eligibility rules of the Naval Academy are more stringent than those in force at the Military Academy, as a result of which the teams representing the Army always have been composed of older and more seasoned players. The Navy requested some time ago that the Army draw up similar eligibility regulations. The Army refused, on the ground that such restriction would tend to hamper the military development of the cadets.

Initial conferences held in an attempt to compose the differences all failed. The superintendents of the two academies finally met in Washington and it was hoped that as a result of the meeting some way would be found under which the annual climax to the football season might be continued. The Military Academy was firm in its decision not to adopt a rule that would deprive nearly half of its student body from participation in major football and the Naval Academy refused to retreat even an inch from its previously adopted stand that unless cadets having prior collegiate football experience were barred from the teams, as are midshipmen, there would be no more Army-Navy games.

Apparently an impasse has been reached. Possibly the congressional committee proposed by Representative Linthicum might be able to arbitrate the matter, but even that possibility seems to be only a forlorn hope. Neverthe less, the public would like to have something done in the matter. The annual Army-Navy football game is an attraction surpassing even the world's baseball series. It comes near being America's greatest sporting event. There must be somewhere a common ground upon which each institution could see its way clear to resume football relations.

BETTER HIGHWAYS NEEDED.

A high official of an automobile corporation one that has been stressing high speed in its advertising, rises to defend the practice of driving 60, 70 and 80 miles an hour. The day is not far distant, he says, when speed laws will be abandoned throughout the United States. Michigan has done so already, substituting therefor a stringent reckless driving ordinance. This gentleman brings forward the old plea that the automobile of today is safer at 50 miles an hour than the car of ten years ago was at 20. He envisions a nationwide highway system of one-way roads, with grade separation at crossings, on which cars will be expected to go at least 65 miles an hour. When this day arrives there will be no further need for speed/laws. Until then, however, 50, 60 and 70 miles an hour on the public highway is excessive and dangerous. The automobile driven at an excessive rate of speed endangers all others that may happen to be utilizing the same right of way. Most of the roads are too narrow. There are too many blind curves to permit of high speed.

Yet higher speed limits than have been permitted in the past are necessary. Today's automobile is better equipped to be driven at say 40 or 45 miles an hour than was yesterday's, but one can not roar through the country at better than a mile-a-minute clip under present road conditions in safety to one's self or other motorists. The process of speeding up motor traffic should be accomplished through improving the facilities offered for traffic, so that greater speeds will be safe.

LIFE AND TIMES OF CASEY JONES.

There are still a few relicts who can call to mind the famous song about Casey Jones The hero of the Cannonball Express, his adventures and untimely end were collected into a popular ballad which, in variorum editions, was conned and sung from Tallahassee to Seattle. But few who were thus beguiled realized that Casey was in truth a genuine

It is just 27 years ago since Casey met his death in a railroad wreck. He was born in the little town of Cayce, Ky., which the inhabitants were wont to pronounce "Casey." Hence, after young John Luther Jones took a job as telegraph operator for the Illinois Central it was not long before he bacame known up and down the line as Casey Jones. Eventually he rose to be engineer on the Cannonball Express, one of the crack trains of the Illinois Central. Casey's death occurred at Vaughn, Miss., while he was trying to make up for lost time. Two freight trains were lying on a siding; one of them, however, had encroached on part of the main track. The plan was to allow Casey's train to clear the first feeight train, which would then pull up and enable the second to move off the main track. This scheme would have been successful had Casey been going at normal speed, but unfortunately he had increased the rate to 60 miles an hour to offset a previous delay. His engine plowed into the rear cars of the second freight train, and Casey was instantly killed. When they found him, his hand was still firmly grasping the air brake.

For some reason, which will probably never be made clear, the incident caught the popu rigidly regulated. Further, they are in the lar fancy, and Ed Newton wrote the original nature of monopolies and under a very old song about it. Shortly after the accident, a law which has recently been revived, the right | play was produced having life on the railroad is given to the government to regulate the as its theme. The first scene dragged some-duce Newton's song about poor Casey. It took the public by storm, and every town in the country added its own version of the life and fate of Casey until he became the subject of as many ballads as Robin Hood. Outside of the locality where he met his end, his identity was quickly forgotten so that within a few years "Casey Jones" was simply a mythical figure who did surprising deeds and came to an untimely ending. But here he is, and his widow still survives in Jackson, Tenn.

ADEQUATE ANNUITIES.

Mr. Addison T. Smith, ranking member of the civil service committee, has introduced into the House of Representatives a bill to amend the retirement act. It provides:

1. That the Government assume the deficit cost due to the service of retired employes prior to 1920. This is in lieu of the implied obligation to pay half the cost of retirement perpetually.

2. That the deduction from the pay of each employe shall be $3 per month, instead of 3 1/2 per cent.

That each employe retired shall receive the proceeds of an accumulation of $10 per month, with interest at 6 per cent, compounded, throughout length of service.

4. That the Government, in lieu of other liability, shall borrow from the retirement fund and pay 6 per cent interest.

Under this bill, in 1951 there would be about 20,000 annuitants. The total payments on annuities and refunds would be about $26,-300,000; the retirement fund would be about $320,000,000, the interest on which, with $3 a month from each employe, would more than cover the outgo, and the Government would have nothing further to pay. In the meantime the Government would pay an average of about $8,500,000 annually, as contrasted with $20,-000,000 a year under the Lehlbach bill.

Inasmuch as the Smith bill would obligate the Government to pay less than half what it would pay under the Lehlbach bill, the former would, in all likelihood, meet with favor at the hands of the President. .

HORNSBY GOES TO BOSTON.

The Rogers Hornsby trade, engineered by his owners, the New York Giants, leaves the baseball world gasping. Hornsby goes to the Boston Braves in return for Frank Hogan, a young catcher, and Jimmy Welsh, an outfielder. According to the announcement, no cash was involved in the transaction

Hornsby is easily one of the outstanding baseball players of all time. Normally his value to the club that holds his contract is great. He cost the New York club a pretty penny, but he demonstrated during last season that he was worth all he had cost. It has been generally conceded that Hornsby would in time become manager of the Giants. Hogan and Welsh, on the other hand, were largely "unknowns." It is unbelievable that their value would in any way measure up to that of Hornsby. Hornsby hit during the season of 1927 .361 in 155 games. Hogan hit .288 in 71 games and Welsh .287 in 131 games.

In his original announcement, President Stoneham said that the trade was engineered "after due consideration" and "in the best interests of the New York Giants." Subsequently the statement was amplified by another to the effect that Hornsby was transferred "in order to avoid any future conflict in the management of the club, and for no other reason." Neither statement explains the inequality from the standpoint of value given and received, in the deal, however, nor does either explain the fact that on the surface, at least, Hornsby and the present manager of the club, John J. McGraw, always have appeared to be bosom friends. It is only natural that the baseball world is asking questions. Can it be that the New York and Boston National League clubs have a community of interest or ownership? Was Hornsby transferred in the best interests of the Boston club, for years a financial flop? The high commissioner of baseball, Judge Landis, has a duty to perform. This transaction should be explained.

WHAT THE AUSTRALIANS SAW.

The Australians go to England to help the mother country when a big war is on; in time of peace they go there to play cricket or football; they come to the United States, as the representatives of other countries have come, in order to investigate our methods in industry The Australian Industrial Mission, which toured the United States last summer, consisted of four labor men and four nominated by the employers, and so, of course, general unanimity is not to be expected in their report. As a matter of fact, two reports-one from the majority and the other from a minority-were submitted.

They all agreed that industrial management was developed to a high point in America. They were not accustomed in Australia to managership as distinct from proprietorship or ownership, and hence the trained men in this field and the efficiency they have compassed were a revelation to them. They also agreed in expressing wonder at the high percentage of unskilled to skilled workmen in the factories of the United States, but differed as to the advantages of that system. The employers were impressed by "the opportunity given to the unskilled workman to improve his position," while the laborites went or record on this subject to the following effect:

Out of every hundred workers in these industries ninety are denied the opportunity to give more than that (i. e. turn a screw or drive a nail) and this in country that, having practically closed its doors against fresh supplies of raw labor, is preaching and teaching * * the shame of staying in the rut. America can not have it both ways. It can not raise the quality of labor and at the same time shut out the opportunity for labor.

On the question of the earnings of labor each section of the mission was in agreement with the other. Both said that the American workman receives high money wages, but that the real wages of American workers are lower than those of Australians. The members of the mission were also astounded at the exten to which buying on the installment plan is practiced by the workers of America. Both reports are highly interesting, and will well repay perusal and study.

Times change, and people may yet use snakebite as an antidote for liquor.

It may not be significant, but the divorce evil and peanut butter developed at about the

Success

=By ROBERT QUILLEN=

NCE upon a time there were two brothers, named Sam and Bob, in this morning's Post and with your who were determined to be successful men. They left home together, and when they came to a crossroad they stopped and flipped a coin for choice of territory in which to operate, for they felt that one small State couldn't be divided between two men as successful as they expected to be.

Bob found work in a city; studied law at night; passed his bar the kind of statements that sounds examination, and began the practice of law. He was determined to be governor.

The governorship is not a prize to be easily won, but Bob was content to wait and he would not acknowledge defeat. He made friends wherever he could; accepted all invitations to address luncheon clubs and graduating classes: got his name in the papers whenever possible. and courted the favor of the big fellows.

Three times he had a nomination almost within his grasp and lost it: twice he was nominated and failed of election. But still he hung on grimly, accepted defeat as so much training, and refused to give up his dream.

And there came a time when the right combination of circumstances and a generous admixture of luck gave him a majority of votes. He moved into the governor's mansion, his ambition fulfilled.

Sam, meanwhile, had settled in a village. Here he established a peanut stand to provide a living until something better offered, and Donahey of Ohio will have more luck in a little while he had saved enough money to make the first payment on a house.

He made friends; won the respect of the community, and in the course of time was elected justice of the peace. Then he married, marine disaster. The Senate is fast moved into the house the peanut stand had paid for, bought a flivver says farm relief can take care of itself, and smiled a smile of contentment.

"I have a good little business," said he. "I am a justice; people respect me; my home is paid for; I have a good wife and a car. What have but one thing in mind, and that more could a man ask?" The moral is not that a definite goal is essential to success, not

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Strong Navy Plea. To the Editor of The Post-Sir: As another "American Cftizen," I wish to take issue with Mr. Lamb in his letter recent editorial on why we · need a strong Navy. Mr. Lamb says "a strong recent editorial will be the means of keeping us out of war." I presume I have read that or similar statements, a hundred times during the past few years. It is one of good, but the trouble with it is as history proves, it is not true.

Strong armies and navies have never kept nations out of war. They did not keep the leading nations of the world from engaging in the most awful war in all of known history, but did make it the most terrible. We need a strong nay to protect our interests in time of war, if that time ever comes, as come I believe it will, but for the sake of truth do not base the need upon the fallacious idea that a strong Navy will keep us out of war. It never has, it never will.

Dr. Albert bases his opinion on his experiences, largely in Iowa, supplemented by his study of heart disease in all sections of the country. By rheumatism is meant not only the out and out attacks with inflamed joints, but also that minor condition frequently called group pains. Since mouths and tonsils are kept cleaner and healthier than they were a decade or so ago, we ought to expect some decrease in rheumatic heart disease shortly.

Contagious diseases are becoming milder year by year. This is especially true of scarlet fever. There are those who say that if the health department got records of every case of scarlet fever, the mildest as well as the severe, they would find that the chance of recovery in this disease is one hundred to one.

Despite his illuminating example, his younger brother picked much the same type of woman, although from his own circle. She is about the most undesirable girl he knew. She boasts that she did the proposing. I for one believe her. Their life is one battle after another. She drinks and smokes to excess, neglects her home, and disappears when she pleases without giving any account of herself. Her mother backs her up in everything, of course.

Now if youths today would see a bold woman as she really is, a lot of trouble would be saved. The girl who has to be "reformed" before she is fit for wifehood is not a fit subject for marriage, and young men ought to know it. Such girls will not become fine wives, just because some youth puts a ring on their finger.

DEAR Claribel: Paris is mad over diamonds, emeralds and Chanel's paste jewelry. It seems that you must glitter one way or another, and if you can't do it with diamonds, you do it with paste. The point is, however, that the paste jewelry should be so large that no one could afford real stones of that size except the wife of an Argentine millionaire, and if you don't look like that it is obvious that you are just yourself glittering as best as you may.

At the top you see me simply laden with paste jewelry which goes very well with my ivory satin frock. As you see I am wearing two chains. The short one at the neck ends in a triple drop, all made of glittering paste diamonds. The other is made of round smooth crackled green stones—some sort of composition material which is very lovely when it catches the light. I am devotedly attached to this new jewelry because it gives the convenient note of color to a costume that we used to supply by shoulder flowers, and I am so very tired of them!

The pin below is my very nicest pos-

The pin below is my very nicest possession. It is a row of real diamonds with a huge emerald drop at the end. Furthermore, although the design is too delicate to draw, the emerald is carved all over, a jewelry note that many smart women have taken up. I wear this pin on evening or street frocks, or even on a hat, if I feel so inclined, an it is amazing, the assurance that a truly beautiful thing gives you. Whenever I wear it, I feel fitted to cope with any situation in the world.

To open the bidding and then have the opponents find a secondary bid which develops into a game-going contract is bad enough at Bridge; at Contract it may be even more serious. To open the bidding and Contract with a doubtful holding and thus encourage the partner, who, of course, will assume that a Fourth Hand bid has been made with material Strength, to jump with comparatively light jumping material, may result in a double and disastrous set.

1. A matron of honor is simply a chief bridesmaids, or one of the chief bridesmaids, or one of the chief bridesmaids. Your place will be explained by the bride, no doubt. If you are the only maid of honor you will walk just ahead of her up the aisle, the bridesmaids (if there are any) walking two by two shead of you. Will stand nearest her and help her with her train, her bouquet or her prayerbook. Otherwise you have no duties.

The market was rather weak at the close.

The market opened with many signs of strength and gained strength until well into the afternoon session, some of the more volatile stocks climbing rapidly. But curiously enough the tide turned and stocks generally sold off on what apparently was good news—the reduction in the call thoney rate from 4 4 to the process of the more reduction in the call thoney rate from 4 carly rally, but there was no eager rush to buy the carriers, following the antouncement of the Interstate Commercial Acommission's approval of the St. Paul Reorganization. The reviews, however, pointed that the current activity is limited chilefly to shipping construction.

Corn Products was one of the market leaders in point of activity, selling at 71%, a new high level, but reased of the close at 70%, a net gain of 34 of a point.

Views on the immediate outlook for the market were decidedly mixed, some holding that technical weakness had been pretty thoroughly corrected as a consequence of heavy selling yesterday, while others took the stand that the action of the market lindicated room for something more in the way of adjustment selling. Those holding to the latter view based their contention on the failure of the market to crespond to good news and pointed to its action following the lowering of the money rate.

The more optimistic took their contention of the more rate.

The more optimistic took their cue Cha from the discussion by important bank-chargers of their interest trend on deposits. Ches which, they held, argued for continued Ches

Outside the stock market the most important development today was perhaps the receipt of another $8,250,000 in gold from Canada, which, in the absence of French engagements for export, was interpreted as marking a the outflow of the yellow metal toward South America and Europe.

Heavy sciling by local institutions of both Japansee and Spanish exchanges in the foreign exchange market here today caused sharp breaks in the rates on those countries. Japanese yielded 32 points, to 46.75: Spanish lost 17 points, Italian made a slight gain, Dutch dropped 1/2 point, and other continentals were little changed, while sterling was strong, advancing 1/8.

GUARANTEED SAFETY

and 6% for Your January Funds

EVERY investor knows that for many months bond yields have been steadily declining. On the basis of 60 representative bonds, Standard Statistics computes that bond yields are now at the lowest ebb since 1912. In the year just ended millions of dollars' worth of bonds have been called and reissued at much lower rates of interest. Thus confronted with the prospect of diminished earnings, what will the bond investor do?

If he is well advised he will turn to the field of real estate mortgage investment. For GUARANTY BONDS offer not only a greater degree of safety than bonds in the general market, but a yield of 6%, compared with an average yield of 4.42% from other classes of high-grade bonds.

Guaranty Bonds are strongly secured by first mortgages on completed, income-producing properties in and near Washington. Every dollar of principal and interest is guaranteed by the Real Estate Mortgage and Guaranty Corporation. This corporation has capital, surplus and reserves of more than $3,700,000.00.

Before you decide upon your January investments, write us or call at our office for further information about GUARANTY BONDS.

BOND PRICES' TENDENCY GENERALLY IRREGULAR

St. Paul Issues Are Heavily Bought—Some Tractions Are Active.

FEDERAL LIST IS EASIER

New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Bonds of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Reliroad were heavily bought in today's market, as a result of the favorable decision on the road's reorganization, announced late yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission, otherwise the list displayed irregular tendencies, probably reflecting a slight stiffening of time money rates.

Trading in the St. Paul issues, several of which sold at the best prices in more than a year, amounted to nearly $1,000,000 face value. Some profit-taking late in the day pared fractions from the extreme gains. Other railway liens were extremely quiet, most of the leading issues selling at or under yesterday's closing figures.

A sudden unexistence spire of buying in Dominion from & Steel 5s and certificate 5s carried the quotations app 5½ and 4 points, respectively, to be peak levels. Copper bonds attracted some attention, notably Andes 7s, and Liquid Carbonic 6s were among the strong convertible issues. General Asphalt 6s sold well above their 1927 peak, and firmness characterized some other petroleum mortgages.

Aside from some activity in traction lens, such as Brooklyn-Manhattan Paansit 6s and Market Street Railw. 7s, little of interest took place in the utility group. New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.) .- Bonds of Teansit 6s and Market Street Railw 7s, little of interest took place in the utility group.

More than $1,000,000 of Treasury 3%s changed hands at slightly cetter prices, but Federal Government securities generally were easier.

French obligations were much less active than yesterday, and inclined to account of themselves, making the best account of the spect to underwith the spect of the spect of the League of Nations, will be in the form of 6 per cent bonds, and will be used for refuse settlement and currency stabilization purposes. Public offering is expected soon of $12,000,000 Cities Service Gas Pipe Line Co. bonds and $10,000,000 debenture 5s of the National Electric Power Co.

"Syndicate Baseball" Is Heard After New York-Boston Swap.

Stoneham Reiterates "Club's Best Interests Were Served."

By ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

N EW YORK, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Instead of satisfying a startled baseball public with the explanation that Rogers Hornsby was traded to the Boston Braves "to avoid any future conflict in the management of the club and for no other reason," the New York Glants today apparently heaped only fresh coals on the fires of debate.

The brief statement issued by Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Glants, not only was taken with several grains of salt by the assembled experts, but drew from Hornsby a sharp reply, in which the famous second baseman disclaimed any controversy with Manager John McGraw and denied any attempt last season to undermine the authority of the "Little Napoleon."

While innocent bystanders still were a trifle groggy from the shock of the deal, which sends the league's highest-salaried star to a seventh-place club in exchange for two little-known players—Catcher Frank Hogan and Outfielder Jimmy Welsh—the experts probed behinc the scenes for the "real reason" prompting what seemed, on the surface, like the most one-sided transaction in recent years.

Congress to Force Play

Date With Army Kept Open in Expectancy of that Action.

Georgetown Is One of Seven Major Teams Seeking Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

A NNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11.—Commander Jonas H. Ingram today stated that he would make no announcement at present concerning a probable opponent for the 1928 Navy Eleven for the November 24 date left open by the controversy with West Point.

Though no official statement could be secured here, it is understood that Navy will not sign any game for some time, as it is felt that Congress will bring about the playing of the service game. If Congress sets a rule for the game neither institution can balk, and Confirmation that broached Princeton concerning a game could not be secured from Commander Ingram. The Tigers have long been rivals of the Middles and the game would attract in Philadelphia, where the Navy still admits holding a contract on Franklin Field for November 24.

It is known that at least seven big teams have applied for the open date. Word from the West Coast is that Stanford University has made application. Georgetown has been mentioned as a probable successor to Army for 1928, yet Commander Ingram's only remark concerning the Hilltoppers was a statement that he looked favorably toward placing Georgetown on his 1929 and 1930 schedules. "If Navy and Army remain apart, in the future, we will likely close the season with three consecutive hard games instead of priming for the Cadets," Commander Ingram added.

Omona Winner Over Two-Year-Olds in First Event.

AIR GROUNDS, New Orleans, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—H. Massey's Florian. with Sonny Leonard up, and fa-vertte in the betting, scored in a hard cirve in winning the Old Town Handi-cap, a mile and sixteenth test. The race was run over a drying-out track race was run over a drying-out track and the time was real good, being 1:48 3-5. Bob Rogers landed second. With Wellett third.

Nitouche cut out a very fast pace for six furlongs, with Florian close up and Bob Rogers third. At the far turn Florian rushed into the lead, but at the same moment Bob Rogers made his bid. However, Florian was too much for him and drew away, to win by a for him and drew away, to win by a length. Bob Rogers took the place by a length.

Jöckey R. Whittaker, who had the mount on Narva in the third race, received a broken right leg when his mount fell.

Eleven baby racurs performed in the first race, a 3-firlong sprint. Omona was returned the winner, with Harmony second and Tanglefoot third. The latter was an odds-on favorite, but the outside post position was the direct cause of her defeat.

Harmony, away flying, saved ground by hugging the rail while Tanglefoot was forced wide. It was a hard drive all through the stretch, with Omona gaining the purse by a head, with Harmony second, balf a length ahead of Tanglefoot.

O. P. Winfrey's Talladega, favorite in the betting, had no difficulty in annexing the purse in the second event, which was contested over the mile and a sixteenth route. Ten platers competed and at no part of the journey was the result in doubt. Talladega just breezed along back of Shampoo, the early pacemaker, to the far turn, then rushed into the lead to win by three lengths. Billy Star saved the place by a head.

three lengths. Billy Star saved the place by a head.

A nasty spill occurred in the third race, when Worthy and Narva fell just after the start. McGonigle, who had the mount on Worthy, and R. Whittaker, who had the leg up on Narva, were both knocked out and were hustled back to the paddock in the ambulance. The winner turned up in Eloise, favorite, with False Modesty second and the good thing, Rejoice, third. Ann Curtis made the running to the stretch, where Eloise took the lead and won in a drive by a head. False Modesty took the place by five lengths from Rejoice.

Almadel cut out the early pace, but in the stretch My Son came along, took the lead, and won by three lengths. Almadel took the place by a nose from Homage.

Sun Altos, after many unsuccessful Sun Altos, after many unsuccessful attempts, finally scored when he won the sixth race. He led for the entire trip and won eased up by five lengths. Finland landed second money by a length and a half, with Run Bank

The last race was won by Miss Chiniquy, with Huon Pine second and Clari-fier third.

THE wops, tiger. Yea, bo, and a bottle o' rum. This is the day when the hard boots of ole Kaintuck intend gathering money with which to purchas ethe spring benny, and the medium is NOR-EASTER. True the Camden trick has not been out for some time, but that makes no never mind. Danny Stewart has him tuned to concert pitch. It wouldn't surprise me if he ran GIBBONS into a gopher hole and then made SHASTA LAD qhit. The latter has had quite a spell of racing and may need freshening up. BOON COMPANION is probably in for work—recent morning trials do not indicate that he is, quite ready. JEAN BOND, a mighty consistent filly, is another that found keen overnight support. She unseated her rider last time, but prior to that finished second four times. GEE EFF CEE'S last was good enough to hold the balance safe, while ADAM'S APPLE and GUILLOTINE should battle the issue out for what THE wops, tiger. Yea, bo, and a bottle o' rum. to hold the balance safe, while ADAM'S APPLE and GUILLOTINE should battle the issue out for what

Listen boys—it won't be long now, for SPORT HALLAHAN will strut his stuff today. Forget that last effort, workman had him all over the track, incidentally, the track will suit the Winfrey horse much better today. Dr. FRED and MADCAP PRINCESS have both worked well and should finish in the order named.

Johnny Partridge will send the good FEO FOLLETT after the old dough rame in the fifth, and, believe me. Thomas, she will take some catching. Relative to that last effort, it seemed as if the French horse was, a bit short. MULDOON will go well, and if any mistakes are made may be returned the winner. He is right at the top of his best form at present.

JAKE, in his present form, seems about seven points best in the sixth, while Ben Jones should take down his first purse of the meeting with NOSE.

DIVE in the closing spasm. "A race to recent morning trials will bring home the bacon," is the comment appended by the lads. Let your conscience be your guide.

Over at Havana the good word is to string along with DONETTA in the fifth spasm. Commissions planted all the way from Cuba to New Jersey.

Adams and Dean were regulars last year, as was Linkous, while Hale was a reserve on the 1926-27 team. All the others came up from last scason's yearling combination.

Hetzel 1 so close on Adams' heels for the pivot position that it is really a toss-up, while Evans does not dare falter or Linkous or Madigan will have his job, Hale is the "pinch hitter" of the nine on the trip. Delbert Zahn and Mel Koons were left at home.

10 Deal Started by Accident,

MARYLAND U. Reason for Hornsby Deal Still Is Sought by Experts

The Giants, it seems, regarded these published statements as prompted by Hornsby's friends, if not the second baseman, in spite of the fact that Mc-Graw himself pinned the "heir apparent" label on Rogers late last season at a time when the second sacker was being given almost a free rein in the field direction of the club.

Even if Hornsby's supposed "lese majeste" isn't quite clear to observers it is manifest at any rate that McGraw has no intention of handing over the managerial reins to any one else for some time to come. So far as the Giants are concerned, there is only one manager and his name is John Joseph McGraw.

New Coach Successful With Nines in 1925 and 1926.

IKE KELLEY, affiliated with Central High School since 1923 and present coach of football, will coach the Central Baseball Team this year, Principal Alvin W. Miller announced last night. Kelley, who assisted in the coaching of the baseball team in 1924 and who was in sole charge of the team in 1925 and 1926 succeeds S. T. Kimple, general director of boys' physical training, who coached the team last year.

Relieving of Mr. Kimble of the coaching of the baseball team this year, will allow the latter to devote his full time to the general direction of athletics at Central and to his duties as treasurer of the Interhigh School Athletic Association. Under Coach Kimble's leadership last year, Central finished in third place in the series.

In 1924, Kelley's first year with the baseball team, he assisted G. Harris White in the coaching of the team, the last year Central won the high school baseball championship.

practically all his first string line-up admitted belonging to a fraternity, as at that time fraternities were not approved. Williams, captain; Dezendorf, pitcher, and Byng, first baseman, were among the outstanding players lost.

In 1926, while Kelley turned out a good team which defeated such aggregations as Princeton, Penn and Catholic University Frosh, for some unexplained reason it did not do well in the series. The prospects for a good team hext year are bright.

To Tech Five Today

Tech High School may be severely handicaped in its game tomorrow with Central High School, due to the fact that Louis "Bozzy" Berger, its high scorer and mainstay of the team, may be unable to play.

Berger sprained his ankle severely Tuesday when Tech scored its 61 to 15 victory over Western. The injured member has responded somewhat to medical treatment and Berger declares he will be in the starting lineup. He will be playing under a handicap in any event. Berger has been absent from school since the game, but will return to classes today.

Sir Thomas Beecham to Lead New York Philharmonic Society Over WOR.

When station WOR broadcasts the concert of the New York Philharmonic Society tonight at about 8 o'clock, it will present the orchestra's new guest conductor, Sir Thomas Beecham, for the first time on the air in America. Sir Thomas has long been considered England's foremost conductor, both for symphony and for opera. The Newark station is a part of the Columbia chain. Benno Moiseiwitsch, "The Russian poet of the pianoforte," will be heard as the guest soloist during the Ampico hour of music which will be broadcast through WJZ and stations associated with the Blue network at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

A half-hour later the same network will broadcast Broadway Night, featuring selections from popular musical shows and visits to some of the high points in the Times Square districts as a part of the Maxwell House hour. The writers of "Good News," De Sylva, Hengderson and Brown, will present a few musical sketches. The Liebling Singers, from the Strand Theater, will present special numbers, while Walter Donaldson, Milton Ager and Jack Yellen will trip in from the Tin Pan Alley to present several hits. Wee Willie Robyn will sing "Moments With You," the latest song by Nathaniel Shilkret and Jack Yellen. No Broadway night would be complete unless Irving Berlin were represented, so the orchestra will play excepts from his music for the Ziegfeld "Follies" of 1927.

A portion of Massenet's "Sappho," with Mary Garden in the leading role, will be the presentation by the Chicago Civic Opera Company at 10 o'clock through WJZ and blue network stations.

New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Rallies from an early decline developed in the cotton market today, but they were not fully maintained and after selling up from 18.94 to 19.99, March closed at 18.99, compared with 19.06 at the close the previous day. The general market closed steady, at a net advance of 2 points on July, but 5 to 7 points net lower on other positions.

The market opened steady at a decline of 5 to 10 points, and sold about 9 to 14 points net lower in early trading under liquidation, local, Southern and New Orleans selling, inspired by relatively easy Liverpool calls. Part of the Southern selling was supposed to represent price fixing on sellers call, and the decline below 19 cents for May.

300,000 Shares $2 Cumulative Participating Preferred Consolidated Film Industries, Inc.

Capitalization

Upon completion of the present financing, capitalization of the Company will be as follows

$2.00 Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock (no par value) ... 400,000 shs.

The Participating Preferred Stock will be entitled to a $2 fixed cumulative dividend in preference to any dividend on the Common and will participate share for share with the Common in all dividends in any year after the Common stock shall have received $2 per share in that year. It will be callable at $95.00 and dividends and entitled in voluntary liquidation to the distributable assets up to $35.00 and dividends in priority to the Common. It will be without voting power except upon proposals to change the authorized stock of the company and except after and only during the continuance of default in the payment of four consecutive quarterly installments of the fixed dividend. The Company agrees not to pay any dividends on its Common shares when Net Current Assets are, or would be reduced by such payment to, less than $2,400,000.

We submit the following from the letter of Mr. Herbert J. Yates, President of the Company:

History and Business

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc. of Delaware is being incorporated to succeed a Company of a similar name formed in March, 1924 under the laws of New York, for the developing of motion picture negatives, printing the necessary positives and delivering the positives as instructed by the motion picture producer or distributor, thus rendering an essential service to the motion picture industry. The Company operates six plants, known in the motion picture industry as "laboratories," in New York, New Jersey and California.

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc. is believed to be the largest concern of its kind and is the largest purchaser of motion picture film in the world. The business has been built up on the sound foundation of quality and service at a price, in most instances, below the motion picture producer's own laboratory cost. This low price has been made possible through the Company's efficient and large scale operations.

The success of this service is indicated by the fact that the Company does laboratory work for the following: Joseph M. Schenck Enterprises

*First National Pictures, Inc. 6 *Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corp. *United Artists Corporation
*International News Reel Corp.

Columbia Pictures Corp. Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corp. Winkler Pictures, Inc.

*Lumas Film Corporation Producers Distributing Corporation Mary Pickford Studios *Film Booking Offices of America, Inc. Loew's, Inc. Gloria Swanson Productions

*Kinograms Publishing Corp. Douglas Fairbanks Productions
*F.B.O. Productions Inc. *Hearst News Service, Inc *Chadwick Pictures Corp. *Rayart Pictures Corp. *Artclass Pictures Corp.

In addition to the above, the Company has numerous other customers, including many industrial concerns supplied through a special Industrial Department. Early in 1928 a department will be opened to service amateur needs.

Sales and Earnings

Sales and earnings of the predecessor Company since incorporation and of subsidiary companies now owned, after eliminating interest of $68,176 paid on indebtedness incurred in connection with acquisition of new properties and liquidated prior to October 31, 1927, as audited by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, have been as follows:

Years	Footage Processed (Company figures)	Net Sales	Net After Depreciation and Federal Taxes at present rate	Per Share Preferred
1927 (10 mos.)	294,099,611	$6,441,775	$929,676	$3.09
1926	318,110,439	7,641,879	802,371	2.67
1925	274,065,855	7,486,387	920,651	3.06
1924 (9 mos.)	171,032,137	4,536,465	478,044	1.59

Based on 67,845,184 feet processed in November and December, net earnings after taxes for the full year 1927 should approximate $4.00 a share of Participating Preferred Stock, or $1.50 a share on the Common after deducting a full year's Preferred dividend requirement.

Decline in 1926 earnings was due to reduction of selling prices in anticipation, but before realization, of lower costs resulting from increased volume.

Assets

Pro Forma Consolidated Balance Sheet as of October 31, 1927, after giving effect to the acquisition of the assets Pro Forma Consolidated Balance Sheet as of October 31, 1927, after giving effect to the acquisition of the assets and liabilities of the predecessor Company, including the retirement of its Preferred Stock and $1,000,000 additional working capital provided by this financing, as certified by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, showed Net Quick Assets in excess of $2,400,000 and a ratio of Current Assets to Current Liabilities of approximately 4 to 1.

Messrs. Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc. have certified the Companies' plants and equipment to have a sound value (reproduction cost new less depreciation) of $2,291,246. Net Tangible Assets, including plants at appraised value, are equal to $15 per share of Preferred stock.

Management

Management and control of the Company will continue in the hands of those responsible for its present position

We are offering the above described Preferred shares, when, as and if issued and delivered to us, subject to approval of

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.) .- The Curb Market resumed an upward trend to-day, apparently recovered from the sell-ing wave of yesterday. Although there was little in the news to interest traders, there were advances in several groups, notably in pipe lines, public utilities and industrials.

A heavy demand developed for several bond issues, especially the convertibles with the result that total sales aggregated $6,957,000, a new high record. The previous high, $4,943,000, was established December 29, 1927.

established December 29, 1927.

Interstate Commerce Commission approval of plans to terminate the receivership of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Raliroad inspired heavy trading in the road's new issues but early gains were wiped out, both common and preferred stocks closing off fractionally. Pipe line issues led by Southwest Penn with a net gain of 5 points. First Penn with a net gain of 5 points. Indiana, 2½, and Prairie, 1½.

Among the industrials Rayon shares received much attention. American Rayon A closed up 2 points. The heaviest turnover of the day sent General Baking B to 9½, a net gain of ½, Other leaders were Sterns Brothers A, Deere & Co., Lehigh Coal and Canadian Marconi. International Cigar Machinery advanced 2 points to 103, a new high on a comparatively small turnover.

A 2-point gain, led the oils. Fairly heavy buying sent Fageol Motors and Franklin up fractionally, but Auburn. Durant and Marmon lost ground.

Public Service preferred A was the leader in the general advance of the public utilities, gaining net 5% points. Hygrade Food Products 48, with a gain of 11½, was a feature in the bond section, reaching a new high of 163. Snyder Peck 6s advanced 3½, to a new high at 116. Heavy buying brought Kensley Milbourn 6s up 7½, and U. S. Rubber 1940 6s up 2½. The St. Paul issues closed lower in sympathy with the stock.

School at Twenty-fourth and F streets northwest, February 1, is being contemplated by attorneys representing the owners of apartment houses and other property nearby.

A group of property owners and attorneys met yesterday afternoon with school officials and members of the Board of Education behind closed doors in the Franklin School to protest the proposal, but Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, and certain members of the Board of Education were adamant in their attitude. The delegation of property owners, headed by Edmund D. Rheem, made a serious effort to check the plan, by offering to obtain and equip a building in another section of the city and present it to the Board of Education if they would use it as a health school for the colored tubercular students.

Citizens' Plan Rejected.

Citizens' Plan Rejected.

When asked whether the Board of Education could legally accept a building furnished by the property owners Dr. Ballou declared they could by paying a nominal rental. It was apparent, however, that this plan did not meet with favor either with Dr. Ballou or certain members of the Board of Education.

Henry C. Clarke, an attorney, told Henry C. Clarke, an attorney, told school officials they would have to look a long time to find a more inappropriate place to locate the health school than in the Toner School. Mr. Clarke characterized the plan of school officials as a "destructive step."

Representatives of the property owners pointed out to members of the Board of Education that there are approximately 250 children living in apartment houses adjacent to the Toner school, who will attain school age in the near future.

fact that the Garnet School will be demolished, beginning February 1. School officials and the members of the Board of Education who favor the present plan of establishing the health center in the Toner School, defend their action by stating the Toner School is the only building available for use by the colored pupils at this time.

Dr. Ballou told members of the citizens' delegation yesterday, how-ever, that selection of the Toner School as the site for the health school was "temporary proposition."

The commision would be composed of one senator, one representative, one representative of the executive branch of the Government, and two persons not connected with any branch of the Government. It would make a thorough study of the retirement situation and would report back to Congress, suggesting whatever changes it believed necessary in the retirement laws. It would have $5,000 for expenses.

Bills have been introduced by Representative Lehlbach and by Senator Dale, of Vernont, chairman of the Senate civil service committee which would increase the maximum retirement annuity from $1,000 to $1,200 and would make retirement optional after 30 years' service.

Representative Welch said, and if Government employes will get behind the bill and petition their representatives in Congress, he believes National election year is the psychological time to procure enactment of the bill. The bill would set the minimum salary in the lowest grade of classification in the clerical, administrative and fiscal service at $1,500 per annum, instead of $1,140 as at present, and provide proportionate increases in nearly all other grades and subdivisions of grades over the classification act of 1923.

The minimum in the professional and scientific service would be increased from $1,860 per annum, as at present, to $2,200; the subprofessional service, from $600 to $780, and the clerical-mechanical $ervice, from $600 to $780, and the clerical-mechanical $ervice, from $450 cents an hour.

Associated Charities Funds Short $6,000

Increased suffering among the poor families of the city is responsible for a deficit of more than $6,000 in the financial statement of the Associated Charities, it was revealed at a meeting of the organization yesterday.

During the month of December of the past year more than $5,000 was axpended in the relief of 243 poverty-stricken families while 270 others were aided by the society's field workers, through the cooperation of other welfare organizations.

A destructive fire at Camp Pleasant last spring contributed to the deficit reported.
